We are all victims of the enormous financial success that the drug companies have achieved through marketing patentable drugs, and of the related service and manufacturing industries that “support” the pharmaceutical companies and their own interests.

It is the taxes WE PAY that support the health care system and health insurance plans, and it is OUR RIGHT to choose the healthcare that is best for us. Throughout Canada (and indeed most aging Western societies), natural (traditional/preventive) medicines and practices will often prescribe food-based non-drug medicines to their patients. They recommend preventive food-based non-drug medicines to help manage or cure the “Vitamin C Scare” and continues on that food-based non-drug medicines can harm you. The campaign started with pharmaceutical fear-mongering has increased. There is something wrong here. Very wrong. Someone is profiting greatly to stop doctors and the public at large from prescribing or using time-proven, safe methods of healing. Pharmaceutical profits are passing hands. There are no prizes for guessing who is receiving part of this profit.

Our government, by failing to control the Health Canada bureaucracy that has run amok, is rapidly squashing all natural (traditional/preventive) medicines to their patients. They recommend preventive food-based non-drug medicines to help manage or cure the “Vitamin C Scare” and continues on that food-based non-drug medicines can harm you. The campaign started with pharmaceutical fear-mongering has increased. There is something wrong here. Very wrong. Someone is profiting greatly from stopping doctors and the public at large from prescribing or using time-proven, safe methods of healing. Pharmaceutical profits are passing hands. There are no prizes for guessing who is receiving part of this profit.

We have learned more and more about the good that food-based non-drug medicines can do. The pharmaceutical fear-mongering has increased. There is something wrong here. Very wrong. Someone is profiting greatly for the right to provide YOU with the food-based non-drug medicines you need (and may have been successfully using for years). One by one, slowly but surely, they are being forced into silence…on their well-researched products pro-claimed as useless or dangerous. Do you know, for example, that the government of our “free” nation actually monitors and censors our access to information about safe, effective, non-patentable food-based medicines? That they are currently spending millions of your health dollars on forcing ads off the radio, and out of magazines and newspapers to prevent you from learning about these highly ef-fective products?

This is just the beginning. The time to act for your rights is NOW!

Your local MP should have died years ago when I suffered with bipolar disorder. A disease prominent in my family. Grandpa committed suicide at 64. Dad did so at 56. I was institutionalized for periods of time. I suffered for many years with no relief of my symptoms. In 1996, I found the nutritional program now known as Truehope. The program is based on a vitamin and mineral supplement. Within two weeks of starting the program I discontinued a debilitating five-drug cocktail and was well on my way to recovery. Seven and a half years later I am still healthy and drug free. Since my recovery I have given birth to two beautiful children. I’ve weathered the other one. Life is good. When Health Canada decided to protect me they started with seizure of the supplement, followed by clauses that is dangerous. Next a refusal to answer questions and relocation to a mental health crisis line that says the supplement is banned. Go back to the hospital. I’ve lived in the hospital. Twelve drugs over three years. Drugs didn’t help me, and didn’t help my dead mother and grandpa either. Please, Health Canada, stop protecting me!
